

Deliver Us from the Evil One

Current and past singers from Holy Trinity and the Chapel came together to sing at the “25 Years of Ministry” Celebration, which took place in October. Beginning this month, the Choir will make a simple, yet profound, change when singing the “Our Father” at Liturgy.

by Fr. John Reeves

AFEW WEEKS BACK, when I preached on “Halloween, the Devil, and the Synagogue Shooting,” I noted that one of our biggest problems in society is that we don’t take the Devil and, consequently, Evil seriously in our society. Thus, whenever a tremendous, obviously-evil event takes place—like the synagogue shooting in Pittsburgh—we are often tongue-tied when called to speak about such a horror. We’ve either sanitized or made light of the Devil so that we don’t know what or how to converse about such an event.

Hatred, mental illness, and a host of other issues are involved. Yet, as Orthodox Christians, we have to come to terms that Evil doesn’t simply mean “bad” but that there is an Evil One who is still prowling over the face of the earth and seeking to devour. The Evil One is not a figure of speech, but a spiritual reality. If we fail to recognize this obstacle in our own lives, we won’t be able to confront the Enemy on our turf.

Archbishop Returns to Meet with Leadership, OCF, and the Chapel

Although here less than eight weeks ago for the “25 Years of Ministry” Celebration, our hierarchy, His Eminence Archbishop Melchisedek of Pittsburgh, returned late last month to reside in the parish. Over the course of five days, His Eminence met with the Transition Team and Parish Council to brief them on the search for a new rector, joined Penn State students at their weekly Orthodox Christian Fellowship meeting, visited the Chapel of the Holy Spirit for Great Vespers; and celebrated the Hierarchical Divine Liturgy at Holy Trinity. Because the search for a rector is ongoing, His Eminence did not dismiss the Transition Team as expected; rather, the group was tasked with a new charge: create a series of interview questions that will be submitted to each rector candidate prior to assignment. The team will gather in an open meeting at Trinity House on Thursday, December 13 at 7 p.m. ■

Until society learns that Evil is much more than a series of “bad choices”—that we wrestle not (merely) against flesh and blood but against spiritual wickedness in high places—we won’t have the spiritual insight to understand what is happening around us or know how to respond when it manifests itself.

Hence, I mentioned in my sermon that day that the “deliver us from evil” petition in the Our Father was rather weak and off base. Scripture itself uses the definite article, “the” Evil (one): τοῦ πονηροῦ. Recognizing this, the Orthodox Church in America’s latest edition of the Hieratikon (Priest’s Service Book) officially endorsed this translation so it would only be a matter of time until we brought our liturgical practice up to date here in the parish. (Actually, the cantors have been doing this for a number of years, and our Chapel of the Holy Spirit has been singing “Evil One” for the last 5-6 years.) It won’t be strange to our ears but it will take a little time for us in State College to learn to sing it together with the choir.

So, here it is: beginning Sunday, December 9, the choir will sing “deliver us from the Evil One” at the conclusion of the Our Father. And please, as you pray the Our Father throughout the day, meditate on the difference between a vague concept of “Evil” and the more dynamic “Evil One” against whom our Lord directs our attention. ■

Be Filled with Joy this Nativity Season

As in years past, there are several ways for you and your family to prepare for the Birth of our Redeemer this month—quietly, prayerfully, and intentionally redeeming time:

- Children are especially encouraged to bring their parents to Great Vespers on Wednesday, December 5 at the special time of 7 p.m. The customary evlogia from St. Nicholas will be passed out.
- The Sunday School will spread the news of Christ’s birth by caroling in the Holmes-Foster neighborhood and by performing their annual Nativity play. For more information, see page xxx.

- Vespers in preparation for the Nativity begin Wednesday evening, December 19 and continue daily through December 24. Confessions will be heard following each service. The Nativity Fast is one of the four fasting periods during the church year when frequent communicants are expected to confess.
- Our St. Nicholas Tree in the narthex enables the disadvantaged in our community to receive gifts through Matthew 25’s partnership with Strawberry Fields. Please take as many tags as you are able. Each tag has the child’s age, sex, and wish. Return gifts to the narthex or Trinity House (open daily) by December 20 to spread Christ’s love to the poor. ■

■ NEWS AND NOTES

Holy Trinity’s Homeless Ministry Continues Growth

STATE COLLEGE — Holy Trinity’s Homeless Ministry, which provides ongoing support to Centre House, a residential homeless shelter here, grew by adding several new volunteers this year. Some of the new volunteers discovered this monthly meal preparation ministry through the Penn State Orthodox Christian Fellowship, which served dinner last month and welcomed Ministry Coordinator Samar Al Maalouf and Housing Transitions Director Morgan Wasikonis to speak at their “Fall Service Night.” New volunteers are always welcome; call (814) 231-2855 for details.

Register Today for College Conference Midwest

BROOKLINE, MA [via ocf.net] — Orthodox Christian Fellowship (OCF) is providing scholarships in the amount of $200 to cover travel costs for any student wishing to attend College Conference Midwest 2018. The discounted tuition of $125 includes food, lodging, fellowship activities, and engaging workshop sessions. Held from December 27-30, 2018 at the Saint Iakovos Retreat Center in Kansasville, WI, the theme is “Who Do You Say That I Am?” Priest Barnabas Powell, Pastor of Saints Raphael, Nicholas, and Irene Greek Orthodox Church, Cumming, GA, and editor of Faith Encouraged Ministries will serve as the keynote speaker. Visit ocf.net to learn more and to register.

Join the 2019 OCMC/ Project Mexico Team

ST. AUGUSTINE, FL [via ocmc.org] — Project Mexico and the Orthodox Christian Mission Center (OCMC) are teaming up next summer. “OCMC Missions Week” at Project Mexico will run from Thursday, July 18 to Wednesday, July 24. Over the course of that week, a short-term mission team will pray together, build a home together, and meet the family who will be moving into the house. The trip cost is $670 (airfare not included). Visit ocmc.org to register.

■ MATTHEW 25

Dozens Receive Complete Meals

Last month, parishioners donated turkeys with all the fixings, sides, and desserts so that 21 struggling families (92 people in all) in our community could enjoy a complete Thanksgiving meal. It was made possible by an ongoing partnership between our Matthew 25 ministry (who collected the food and funds) and Strawberry Fields (who distributed the food). ■

■ ORTHODOX YOUTH ASSOCIATION

Youth Groups Return for Fun

This fall, both the Orthodox Youth Association (OYA, for grades 9-12) and the Junior OYA (for grades 5-8, pictured above at the new GetAir Trampoline Park in State College) returned from a brief hiatus to provide age-appropriate, monthly activities for Holy Trinity’s kids. This month, OYA will meet for lunch after the December 16 Divine Liturgy and then travel to the Penn Stater to wrap gifts for charity; the Sunday before, Jr. OYA will meet at Trinity House at 5 p.m. for a night of fun, food, and fellowship. Thank you, parents and kids for your support of these critical ministries! ■

■ SUNDAY SCHOOL SCOOP

Raising Kids Shows Us We Need Christ

by Joel J. Miller

If you’re looking for a gauge to measure how un-Christlike you are, try raising kids. At least that works pretty well for me. In The Four Loves, C.S. Lewis speaks of “the bad manners of parents to children.” Ahem. Guilty...

When preaching through Paul’s marriage advice, priests often make the comment that Paul has to instruct husbands to love and wives to respect because if they’re prone to going off the rails, it’ll be in those directions: men lacking kindness and wives losing respect.

Apply the same thinking to Paul’s instruction to fathers. Twice he says, “Fathers, do not provoke your children.” In his letter to the Colossians he adds, “lest they become discouraged” (3:21), and he warns the Ephesians about provoking children “to anger” (6:4). When I go wrong with my boys, that’s exactly the direction I head: I drive them to discouragement and frustration... As dads, [we’re] prone to exasperating [our] kids. Don’t.

I have been reading Elder Porphyrios’ advice about parenting in the book Wounded by Love. It slays me. “[P]arents need to devote themselves to the love of God,” he says. “They need to become saints in relation to their children through their mildness, patience, and love. They need to make a new start every day, with a fresh outlook, renewed enthusiasm and love for their children.”

Do I really do that—or do I build a file on my children, one that tallies sins more than it forgives them? Children’s behavior, says the elder, “is not improved by reprimands, disciplining, or strictness. If the parents do not pursue a life of holiness and if they don’t engage in spiritual struggle, they make great mistakes and transmit the faults they have within them.”

Extra Scoops...

Helping Victims. As the fall charity activity of the Sunday School, students contributed their own monies to purchase and assemble 40 IOCC Health Kits. Each kit contains a variety of items (toothbrush, comb, towels, etc.) which are given to disaster victims in need.

Joy to the World. Families will Christmas carol around town on Friday, December 14 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. We will begin with a light meal and end with some delicious hot chocolate. All are invited to share the Good News of Christ’s birth. (Dress warmly and bring flashlights and bells if you have them.)

Forefathers Sunday. All parishioners with O.T. patrons (not just children!) are requested to bring their forefather/foremother icons for veneration during Vespers and Liturgy the weekend of December 15-16.

Play Time! After Liturgy on December 23, students will present the annual Nativity Play. A rehearsal will be conducted on December 22 at 4:45 p.m. Instrumentalists, please see Dn. Mark, and plan to arrive at 4:15.

A parent must employ “disciplinary measures,” admits Porphyrios but adds, “Above all, you need to pray.” And it’s in reading words like these that I realize how much grace I truly need.

There’s a prayer in the Church for parents. “O Righteous Judge,” it says, “who punishes children for the sins of their parents, punish not my children for my sins, but sprinkle them with the dew of Thy grace...”

I can correct my son all day, but if it’s coming from a hard heart, I will only close his. I will, as the apostle warned, drive him to discouragement—or worse. To pray the prayer above is to ask God for mercy in their lives, to relieve the ill effects of my own sins, and instead to “sprinkle them with the dew of [God’s] grace.” As we say in the litany, “Grant this, O Lord.” ■

Holy Supper

Everyone is invited (including friends!) to join our parish family in sharing a Lenten meal before the Christmas Eve Vigil. The dinner begins at 4:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. To participate, sign up in the Parish Hall, and if possible, bring one of the traditional foods called for (recipes will be posted next to the sign-up sheet).

December Bookstore Feature

Journey through the Old Testament with 40 wonderfully illustrated Bible readings, one for each day of the Nativity Lent, with Welcoming the Christ Child, now available in the Bookstore. These short, beloved stories from Scripture include questions and answers to encourage family discussion and can be used any of time of year. This book assists parents in their efforts to bring the Orthodox Faith to life in their homes, inspiring love for Christ and His Church, and to celebrate the feast of Christmas with greater understanding and inspiration.

Vandalism Incident at Holy Trinity

Last month, Laura Rush discovered that a rock had been thrown through a narthex window when she arrived at Holy Trinity. Deacon Alex was alerted, called the police, took pictures, and called the insurance agent. Centre Glass measured a replacement and installed it one week later. Please pray for the perpetrator.

Save the Date: March for Life

The 46th March for Life will take place Friday, January 18 in Washington, DC. The parish will provide free transportation to all interested in attending the peaceful demonstration. Check next month’s issue for details.

■ CHAPEL OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

Fr. John Serves His Final Liturgy at the Chapel

On November 18, Fr. John joined the faithful of the Chapel of the Holy Spirit to serve his last Liturgy as Rector of Holy Trinity. Approximately 10 years ago, after many meetings and conversations with Fr. David Smith (who was a layman at the time), Fr. John had a vision of bringing Orthodoxy to Snyder County. This vision began with reader services and Orthodoxy 101 in a home and grew to include a building with a part-time priest with services being held weekly—and even our very first Pascha in 2018!

We thank our Lord and Savior for blessing Fr. John with this vision and for His faithfulness to the Chapel. We have been blessed by Father’s guidance and love over the last 10 years. We will always remember and hold near to our hearts your guiding words to us, “God is with you”. Many Years as you move on to the next stage in life! We love you!

— The Faithful of the Chapel of the Holy Spirit
